

Solution to State Political Welfare Scandal Offered

Critical Period in Economy to Be Next Year

By STERLING F. GREEN

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—President Kennedy's chief economic adviser today said that 1962 may bring the "critical period" when renewed inflation could halt the advance toward a full-employment economy.

Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, appealed for restraint in price and wage decisions. He spoke at the fall meeting of the Business Council, attended by the heads of nearly 100 of the country's biggest corporations.

The prospect for price stability in the immediate future is good, Heller said in his address, but the business upsurge could stall next year — as it did two years ago — short of full utilization of men and machines.

"By the middle of next year we will probably have not reached full employment but we will have reached about that stage of the business cycle that we reached in 1959 and did not then manage to surpass," Heller said.

"The test next year will be whether the surge of recovery will continue toward full employment or whether a revival of creeping inflation will hamper our efforts to use the full potential of the economy in the service of our national goals."

"Every person who wants the United States to continue to discharge its world responsibilities, and every person who favors full recovery and a faster rate of economic growth, is tied by the bonds of logic to the cause of price stability."

The business group, headed by Roger M. Blough, board chairman of the United States Steel Corp., heard Heller praise Kennedy's letter to Blough and 11 other major steel producers, asking them to forego a proposed Oct. 1 steel price increase.

The letters, said Heller, were a logical appeal for moderation in the long-range interest of steelmakers, steelworkers and the public.

The absence of a price rise to date is "reassuring," as is the pledge of President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers that the union will remain aware of its public responsibilities when the new round of wage bargaining begins next year, Heller said.

Heller spoke at a closed meeting of the council. He gave newsmen advance copies of his remarks.

He told the corporation heads the future of U.S. competitiveness in world trade depends on learning "to limit the increase in money incomes—wages and non-wage both—roughly to the rate of productivity increase, as some other countries have done."

"The government has a two-fold obligation in this effort, Heller said, continuing: "In the first place it can try by persuasion and by the encouragement of healthy competition—both foreign and domestic—to induce both business and labor to conduct their negotiations and make their decisions in a way responsive to public as well as private interests."

"The second responsibility of government is this: The federal government pledges to use its traditional fiscal and monetary powers to defend the economy against inflation arising from excessive demands on our productive capacity, as well as against deflationary pressures resulting from weak over-all demand."

"This task, in all its rigor, we are determined to carry out."

The President's economists also brought to the council a blueprint of the hoped-for American economy of 1963.

Wants 9 States to Team Up for Industrial Push

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)

A new nine-state approach to industrial development in mid-America was unveiled today by Lester E. Cox, chairman of Missouri's State Commission of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Cox proposed that Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky make a mutual effort to attract more industry to the midlands.

The job of selling the plan will start sometime next month when Cox, Missouri Gov. John M. Dalton and Walter A. Bowers, director of the Commerce Division, confer with Gov. Otto Kerner and his industrial development staff in Springfield, Ill.

Cox hopes to visit all the other states in the region by next spring, then hold a general meeting to outline a program of action.

As a starter, he proposed that each of the nine states appoint a man to represent it in Washington in a bid for defense plants and other federal installations.

"What benefits one state will help us all," Cox told newsmen. "If we can't get a certain defense plant for ourselves, maybe we can help get it for some other state in the mid-America region."

Cox said his idea is to pool the votes of senators and congressmen from the heartland states—to get 18 senators and some 70 congressmen pulling for development of the midlands instead of working only for their own states.

"This area is being left out in the defense program," Cox said, "because we haven't put forth the necessary collective effort to get the job done."

"This is the safest place in time of war and the richest place in time of peace."

Cox said he drew his heartland idea covers America's greatest river system—the Missouri, Mississippi, Illinois, Ohio and Arkansas. It provides an unlimited supply of water for industry as well as for freight hauling, he said.

Two States Will Guard President

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas and Oklahoma state police and the Secret Service already are making arrangements to protect President Kennedy when he visits Fort Smith and northwest Oklahoma Oct. 29-30.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Thursday he had been approved of security measures by Col. Herman Lindsey, State Police director.

The president will land at Fort Smith, make a brief address, then go by helicopter to Cedar, Okla., to dedicate a road leading to the Ouachita National Forest.

Then he will fly to Poteau, Okla., to be house guest of Sen. Robert S. Kerr, (D-Okla.), Oct. 30. He will return to Fort Smith and board a government plane for the return trip to Washington.

Washburn added: "All this was three years ago — and I never heard another word from the lady. For where elections are concerned the bureaucrats stick together — both state and federal."

The editor said the federal judiciary are subject to the same criticism as the bureaucrats. He noted that when Newburgh, N.Y., made a valiant effort to reform the scandal of the welfare rolls it was a federal judge who struck the effort down. "Do the judges belong to the People or the Crown?" They belong to the Crown, of course," Washburn said.

"In this complex civilization today our republic is caught between great pressures and loaded election laws," he continued. "We were warned of it generations ago. When Joseph Pulitzer founded the old New York World in the last century he placed in its editorial flag this dedication: 'To fight predatory plutocracy — AND predatory poverty.'"

"It is morally wrong to let people vote who not only pay no taxes but are wholly dependent on the politicians for their daily bread. A foreign enemy we can cope with, but unless we repair this damage within, then the republic will sink — as other free governments have sunk in the past."

Gen. Taylor Talks With Guerillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor talked some more today with guerrilla fighting experts advising South Viet Nam's forces after a tropical storm delayed his flying tour to some of the battlegrounds in the key Southeast Asian country.

President Kennedy's top military adviser was reported satisfied with beginnings of his mission to map a program to help President Ngo Dinh Diem's army crush the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

An aide said Taylor hoped to leave Saturday on a tour of the highlands bordering Laos and of the lower Mekong Delta, the chief centers of Viet Cong attack.

A U.S. spokesman said the discussions Taylor and State Department officials had with him concern the economic as well as military problems confronting Diem's pro-Western government.

South Vietnamese army sources said today intelligence reports indicate some 12,000 to 13,000 fresh Viet Cong troops have moved into North Viet Nam since July.

Nat'l Forest Week Is Observed

LITTLE ROCK — National Forest Products Week is being observed in Arkansas as well as the rest of the nation, this week, it was announced today by Waldo Tillet, State chairman for the observance.

This year's observance stresses the importance of the lumber industry to the Arkansas economy and will emphasize the beauty and versatility of wood as a building material for homes, schools, churches and other public and private buildings.

During National Forest Products Week, senior architectural students of the U of A make a 3½ day tour of lumber industry facilities, including trips to sawmills, forestry operations, hardwood and flooring plants, treating and laminating plants.

The 1961 State Forestry Queen, Donna Axum, will also make tours around the state's lumber centers and make numerous personal appearances. Miss Axum will also make several radio and television broadcasts during the week.

Gov. Faubus signed a proclamation making Arkansas' observance official. National Forest Products Week was initiated last year by Hoo-Hoo International, a lumber organization, with the help of Sen. John McClellan, who introduced legislation in the House and Senate which accorded national recognition to the observance.

Wood and wood products represent one of Arkansas' greatest natural resources. Arkansas has more than 23,000 full time workers in the forest industries, and about half the manufacturing establishments in the state are wood-using plants and mills. The state has over 20 million acres of forest — 12 acres for each resident of the state.

Camel Driver Gets to See U. S. 'King'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The smiling camel driver from Pakistan had his big dream come true today, he saw America's "king," President Kennedy.

"I have met the man of the world," Bashir Ahmad said as he emerged from Kennedy's White House office.

Although the meeting with the President had been arranged in advance, Bashir had hoped that he would get to see Kennedy.

The grinning Pakistani was taken to the President's office after a half-hour tour of the White House with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of the vice president.

Johnson, who is in Texas, invited the visitor to come to America on meeting the camel driver in Karachi on an Asian tour.

Through his interpreter, Bashir said the President had asked him how his visit was going. The camel driver said "wonderful" and thanked Kennedy for having sent Johnson to Karachi.

"What will you tell your neighbors about the President?" a reporter asked the 40-year-old camel driver as he stood on the White House steps in his black fur hat, long black frock coat, and baggy white trousers.

"So far over there, we've been hearing about him. Now I have met the man of the world," he said.

Reporters were not permitted to witness the meeting of the President and the camel driver.

Earlier Bashir had expressed a high hope to see Kennedy.

U. S. Loans to Ghana to Get Second Look

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is sending a special mission to Ghana next week to review U.S. participation in the $236 million Volta River development project there.

President Kennedy announced today the designation of Clarence B. Randall, president of the Inland Steel Corp., to head the mission.

Randall, who had served also as a special assistant to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was named a consultant to the government on special foreign assistance projects.

The White House said Randall will leave next Tuesday for Accra, Ghana, "to lend a special mission to review U.S. participation in the Volta River project."

The project calls for construction of a hydroelectric dam and generating plant at Akosombo, Ghana, and a privately owned aluminum smelter at Tema.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said he understood the United States had promised a loan of $27 million from the Development Loan Fund for the dam, plus up to $54 million to the Volta Aluminum Co. Ltd.

He told reporters these funds have been withheld "pending final consideration."

The United Kingdom, Ghana, the World Bank, the Development Loan Fund and the Export-Import Bank of the United States all are involved in plans for financing the project.

Salinger said he would not comment on whether the U.S. review of its position is tied in with Ghana's stand at the recent Belgrade conference of neutral nations.

A review of U.S. policies on aid to neutral nations was ordered shortly after the Belgrade conference ended. Some of the neutrals took what this country considered too friendly a stand toward Russia and too critical a stand toward the United States and the West.

Six Nations Ask Russia Not to Set Off Big A-Test

BY TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

Six countries close to the Soviet nuclear testing area formally called on the United Nations today to appeal to the Soviet Union to cancel its proposed explosion of a 50-megaton bomb.

The new resolution was laid before the General Assembly's main political committee by Canada, Denmark, Iceland, Japan, Norway and Sweden as that body debated steps to halt further testing of nuclear weapons.

It noted with deep concern Premier Khrushchev's announcement that a 50-megaton bomb would be exploded before the end of the month. It "solemnly" appealed for cancellation of the plans.

The resolution was circulated to the 101 members of the committee this morning. Representatives of Denmark, Japan and Canada were expected to press for priority action later in the day.

The first speaker at the morning session was Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, who pressed for a new voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing despite Western insistence that such a ban would be a trip unless guaranteed by a treaty and inspection machinery.

Menon told the committee both that the Western powers and the Russians must share responsibility for resumption of tests. Diplomats predicted overwhelming support for the six-nation appeal to Khrushchev.

Asian-African nations reportedly had planned to introduce a similar resolution, but they apparently decided to leave the initiative to nations more likely to be affected by fallout from the giant blast.

Several U.N. delegates have expressed the suspicion that Khrushchev had no intention of setting off the bomb despite his dramatic announcement before the Soviet Communist party congress Tuesday. They believe the Soviet leader, knowing the alarm his announcement would arouse, intends to let the full impact sink in, then, as a magnanimous gesture, say he has decided for the sake of world harmony to heed the appeals.

Arms experts have pointed out that there is little military value in exploding such a superbomb. They say that after test bombs reach a certain size, they furnish no useful information.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the Political Committee Thursday there is "no military purpose whatever in such weapons."

"For years the United States has been able to build such weapons," Stevenson said, "but we are not interested in the business of intimidation or bigger blasts."

Stevenson declared that unless a nuclear test ban treaty is signed the United States must prepare to take all steps needed to protect its security, including nuclear tests in the atmosphere as well as underground.

He challenged the Soviet Union to sign such a treaty at once, declaring: "I pray we do not lose another chance to meet this challenge of our time and stop this death dance."

The Security Council scheduled a meeting for next Wednesday afternoon to consider membership applications from Mauritania and Communist Outer Mongolia. A Western diplomat and some African delegates expressed belief Nationalist China would not carry out its threat to veto Mongolia, an action certain to provoke a Soviet veto of Mauritania.

A Nationalist Chinese source said his delegation had not received any word from Taipei.

"Northeasterly winds along and off the coast from Block Island northward will be increasing this afternoon, reaching 30 to 65 miles per hour from Block Island to Provincetown and 35 to 50 miles an hour north of Provincetown to Eastport," the forecast said.

Small craft were warned to stay in port.

Albania Rocks Soviet-Chinese Harmony Boat

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—An open rift over Albania is rocking the Soviet-Chinese boat, but it has little or no chance of capsizing it.

"That was the diplomatic assessment here today after the story (ling disclosure that Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai in a speech to the 22nd Soviet Communist party Congress Thursday had severely criticized Premier Khrushchev's condemnation of the tiny Communist nation on the Adriatic).

The Albanian regime sides with the Chinese Communists in their contention that war is still a legitimate weapon to spread communism. In what Western observers considered an implied criticism of Peiping's ruler, Khrushchev, in opening the party congress Tuesday, had accused Premier Enver Hoxha and other Albanian Communist leaders of failing to support his policy of peaceful coexistence with the non-Communist world and of trying to lead their country back to the era of Stalinist repression.

Chou did not name names, but Khrushchev was plainly his target when he declared: "Any public, one-sided censure of any fraternal party does not help unity and is not helpful to resolving problems."

"To lay bare a dispute between fraternal parties or fraternal countries openly in the face of the enemy cannot be regarded as a serious Marxist-Leninist attitude."

"We socialist countries and we Communist parties of all countries support and cooperate with each other in a brotherly way, on the basis of independence and full equality."

Chou said disputes and differences between Communist parties or governments "should be resolved patiently in the spirit of proletarian internationalism and on the principles of equality and unanimity through consultation."

Chou's defense of Albania did not extend to Yugoslavia, whose Communist leadership Khrushchev also had attacked Tuesday.

The Chinese Premier said "the grouping of American imperialists and Yugoslav revisionists is trying every way to drive a wedge in the cohesion of progressive forces around the world."

At one point in his discussion of party relations, the 4,500 delegates began to applaud out of habit. Khrushchev and the members of the party Presidium sat with their hands folded, and the audience subsided almost at once.

But otherwise Chou went down the line in support of Soviet domestic and foreign policies, and Khrushchev shook hands amid a standing ovation from the congress.

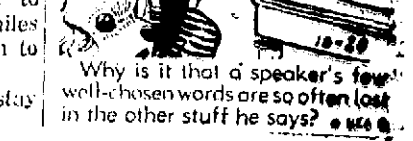

"The Chinese premier directed his bitterest remarks at the United States and President Kennedy in particular, accusing the Americans of aggression in Berlin, Laos, South Viet Nam, South Korea and Formosa."

Chou charged the Kennedy administration with being "deceptive and adventurist" and declared: "U.S. imperialism is the most vicious enemy of peace."

"President Kennedy waves the olive branch, but he is worse than those who preceded him," Chou said.

Blanchard said AEA and Fed-

The facility would be designed

'Brain' Costs the American Taxpayers
By C. YATES MCDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office said today misallocations by both human and electronic brains were partly responsible for what it called a multimillion-dollar excess cost of military aid to the Far East.
The GAO, which serves as a watchdog over government spending, said it had come to this conclusion after investigating nearly half a billion dollars worth of spare parts accumulating in Asian warehouses and at the Army's big supply and inventory depot in Japan.
In its report to Congress, the GAO said its survey resulted in potential savings of about $235 million in excess or useless spare parts.
Another GAO report Wednesday said improper wiring of a calculating machine had led the Army in Europe to order $7.4 million worth of material it didn't need.
In today's report, GAO accountants said the depot in Japan last year had "discovered" unrecorded material valued at $58 million in making its "first complete inventory ever taken" of military aid stocks. Meanwhile, the GAO said, additional supplies of the ordnance equipment had been ordered. The alleged error was attributed by the GAO to depot officials.
Their electronic calculating machine servants, however, were held accountable for errors in simple arithmetic that added to what the GAO called a vast over-supply of items at the depot and to the cost of foreign aid.
In one instance a machine was supposed to record the issue of 46 items, not specified in the report. But the machine reported the issue of 111,146. In another verified instance, the GAO said, the machine recorded the issue of 111,129 items to foreign countries, when the actual number was only
29. The GAO said replacements for the items, which were never issued anyway, were ordered at a cost of $77,990.
The GAO reported that this excessive accumulation of stocks in some places had been accompanied by shortages elsewhere, hurting the military aid program.

Sellout Crowd for Porker, Texas Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns, third-ranked nationally and unbeaten in four games, take a five-point favorite's role into their vital Southwest Conference game with dangerous Arkansas here Saturday afternoon.

Arkansas is tied for 10th in The Associated Press poll and takes solid victories over Texas Christian and Baylor into the Texas game.

A sellout crowd of 31,000 is expected for the 2 p.m. (CST) kickoff and several thousand more will fight for seats on a grassy hill behind the north end zone of Razorback stadium.

The Razorbacks defending Southwest Conference champions, gained the league favorite's role in a 23-13 triumph over Baylor last week. Texas beat Oklahoma 23-7. Arkansas is 3-1, with the only loss a 16-0 setback at the hands of the second-ranked Mississippi Rebels.

Texas was reported in excellent physical shape. Arkansas' first two right guards, Dean Garrett and Tommy Brasher, both nursed leg injuries and Coach Frank Broyles said Garrett may not see action.

Offensively, the game will pit Arkansas' varied offense, whose double wing and flanker plays lean heavily on halfback Lance Alworth and quarterback George McKimney, against Texas' winged-T which features fleet halfback James Saxon.

DISARMED—Arm in sling because of a shoulder separation, the professional New York Giants' Phil King watches his teammates work out at Yankee Stadium. The injury put the charging fullback on the sideline for four weeks.

Boston Bruins Have Yet to Win a Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston's hapless Bruins, who have yet to win this season, found a new tormentor in an old teammate Thursday night.

Vic Stasiuk, once a member of Boston's high-scoring Uke line who now skates for Detroit, jammed in three goals in the last period as the Red Wings blasted Boston 7-3.

Surprising New York clipped Chicago 4-2 as Andy Bathgate extended his scoring string in the only other National Hockey League action.

Stasiuk, a muscular right wing, hit the first two goals of his hat trick with a 62-second span in the first two minutes of the third period, giving Detroit a 5-1 lead. He got his third at 15:10.

Bill Gadsby, Alex Delvecchio, Leo Labine and Eddie Litzenberger got the other Detroit goals.

New York, which has now won four of six starts, extended its first place lead to three points over idle Montreal as Chicago suffered its first loss of the season.

Earl Ingarfield gave the Rangers, who haven't made the playoffs in three seasons, a lead they never relinquished on a 15-footer early in the first period.

Bathgate assisted on the marker, extending his season-long scoring string to six games. He now has 3 goals and 8 assists.

Bob Harrison of Pacific Palisades, Calif., was second with 33-30-66 and Phil Rodgers of La Jolla third with 34-33-67.

Bowl of Flowers in Race Upset

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bowl of Flowers' upset in the $84,400 Spinster Stakes at Keeneland race course has put her on top of the 3-year-old filly picture.

The Brookmeade Stable entry, last year's 2-year-old champion filly, sped through the stretch Thursday to edge John W. Galbreath's Primonetta, her chief challenger for 3-year-old honors. The margin was three-quarters of a length in the mile and an eighth event.

Bowl of Flowers, with jockey Eddie Arcaro up, equaled the record of 1:49 1-5 for the Spinster.

Times Two finished third.

The victory gave Bowl of Flowers the winner's share of $50,640 and raised her total earnings to $392,884.

$767,321 Dog Racing Taxes

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "Nothing would make me happier," actor Jose Ferrer said Thursday when newsmen asked about chances of his reconciling with singer Rosemary Clooney.

But Miss Clooney, 33, replying to the same question, said: "Not at this time."

The two appeared in court and Ferrer agreed to pay $1,500 a month temporary alimony pending trial of Miss Clooney's divorce suit.

The singer charged Ferrer, 49, with mental cruelty. They separated Aug. 7 after eight years of marriage.

Bobkittens Turn Back Arkadelphia

By VINCE FOSTER

The Hope Junior Bobkittens racked up their 19th consecutive win and their 5th of the season over Arkadelphia here last night, 13-0. The 7th and 8th grade Hope squad took the visitors 26-0 in a previous game.

The Kittens took the kickoff and Waller returned it 22 yards to his own 46. McNatt pounded for five and then Waller raced 49 yards to paydirt for the first score of the game. The PAT failed, but the Kittens took an early 6-0 lead.

Arkadelphia received the kickoff and started a drive from their own 34. Plays later Bobkitten Harry Ray McMahan pounced on a Arkadelphia fumble to take possession of the ball on the visitors' 42. McNatt scampered 39 yards on the following play to the 3 and then plunged over from there. He also scored the extra point as the Kittens led 13-0.

The only serious Arkadelphia drive was stopped on the 12 by an interception.

The Hope and Arkadelphia Jr. Bands performed at halftime.

The final half was about even as it was peppered with fumbles and interceptions. The Kittens were on the visitors' 1 yard line at the final buzzer.

The Kittens suffered a great loss, however, as Wayne Moses broke his leg in the first quarter. He joins Jerry Burnett as two first team Kittens back with broken legs. This hindrance may give the Kittens some trouble with Magnolia next Thursday, but they have McNatt, Jordan, Ball and Waller in the backfield slots.

McNatt led the Kittens in rushing with 107 yards. Waller had 101. Jordan followed with 19 and Ball picked up 4. The Kittens line, led by Johnson, also consisted of McMahan, Willis, Samuels, Board Sprague, Martin, Prather and Guerin.

Bobcats, Magnolia in Homecoming Game

By VINCE FOSTER

Tonight the Hope Bobcats celebrate their homecoming with a 4AAA battle with the Magnolia Panthers. Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

The Panthers who won only one game last season, but fought the Bobcats to a 0-0. This year they are winless, but the Panthers are really tough, despite their record. Prescott rocked them 33-13, and Smackover stomped them 40 to 18. Haynesville, La. took the Panthers 18-6 last week. This was the 13th consecutive game in which Magnolia had missed a victory. De-Queen, who took Hope 15-7, was just able to defeat Magnolia 6-0, and the Crossett Eagles won by the same score. Malvern was held to a 6-6 tie at Magnolia, but managed to take the Bobcats 26-20. By these scores it is evident that the Panthers can be very difficult, when they are ready.

In the past eight years, Magnolia has beaten the Bobcats three times and tied them once. However, two of those Panther victories were by a 45 point margin, thus giving Magnolia a 135-100 point advantage.

The Panthers are known to be the best passing ball club in the district, since they lead with 402 yards, almost 150 yards ahead of the next contender. This solid ball club might pass as many times as they will run, especially since they have Roger Burton at QB, who is probably the quickest back in the district. Burton has scored seven points, passed 18 and 13 yards for 14 points, and set up two more TD's with 42 and 20 yard pass plays, thus accounting for five of the Panther's six TD's. The forward wall of Magnolia is led by 190 pound tackle, Ken Winkle.

The Bobcat pass defense will really have to be on their toes, but they are rated second in the district in that category, allowing only 100 yards passing. One big blow to the Cats was the back injury of David Porterfield, who will probably be out for two weeks. He was hurt in the Hope-Fairview game last week. Porterfield is the fastest Hope back, but tonight he will only be used on punts. Mac McLarty will be calling signals for the Cats in his first starting role. Earl Ray Murphy will be backing him, McDowell and Russell hold down the RHB spot, with Tony McLarty and Crain at LHB. Dudley and Wray fill the FB position. Jones, Watkins, Caldwell, Beyerley, Yocom, Marcum, and Compton will make up the offensive forward wall and Roberts and Beggs will see action on defense. The Cats practices have only been fair this week, and this

Negroes at Texas Visit White Dorms

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Fifty Negro students at the University of Texas visited in the lobby of a girls' dormitory Thursday night to protest campus racial barriers.

Negro students at the university are prohibited by school regulations from participating in varsity athletics and dramatics and other nonclassroom activities.

The Negro boys and girls entered the lobby of Kinsolving Dormitory and talked among themselves and with a few white students. A white boy, three Negro boys and three Negro girls stood around a piano while a Negro boy played and a Negro girl sang.

The dormitory's resident counselor told the students their presence violated university rules and asked them to leave. They told her they would stay but after about an hour, they left.

There were no counter demonstrations by whites.

Dr. Joseph H. Smiley, president of the university, said that students found to be guilty of infraction of university regulations will be subject to disciplinary action. Asked what the punishment might be, he said it would depend on the circumstances.

Top Teams in Crucial Grid Games

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jerry Gross, the University of Detroit's clever little bomber, is going to put Navy's anti-aircraft defenses to the acid test tonight when the two football teams meet in the Motor City.

Gross, a junior quarterback, is ranked second nationally in total offense with 702 yards in leading the Titans to a 3-0 record. Navy scout Steve Beleckich classified him as "an outstanding quarterback who combines fine passing with excellent running."

He has averaged 24.6 yards a game and has good support in ends Larry Vargo and Steve Stonebreaker, both drafted by the pros last year as juniors in college.

Navy is favored despite Gross' offensive heroics. The Middles have won three in a row after an opening game loss to Penn State, last week beating Cornell 31-7. After giving up 20 points against Penn State, the Middles have allowed only one touchdown to each of their three victims.

Coach Wayne Haidin feels that the defense cannot afford to let down against Detroit's running, led by halfback Jim Shorter and fullback Vic Battiani. His own offense, led by quarterback Ron Klemick, also is "rolling" in high gear.

In the night's other major game, two Southern Conference rivals, William & Mary (1-4) and George Washington (2-3) play in the nation's capitol.

Big games in each region, headed by top-ranked Michigan State's encounter with Notre Dame at East Lansing, Mich., highlight Saturday's program. Three-Syracuse at Penn State, fifth-ranked Alabama and Tennessee at Birmingham, and Southern California at California will be telecast regionally by ABC.

The Michigan State game is the acid test for the Irish, 3-0, and ranked sixth in the latest Associated Press poll. After a 2-8 season in 1960, the sudden spurts this year has conjured up thoughts of the powerhouses of a decade ago. The Spartans, also 3-0, have superior depth but will have to cope with a powerful Notre Dame rushing attack, third best in the nation.

Notre Dame has lost five in a row to Michigan State and has not scored a touchdown since 1958.

Alabama (4-0) has an offense ranked second nationally, and led by quarterback Mike Trammell and fullback Mike Fracchia. Tennessee (2-1) is led by tailback Glenn Glass, and a victory over the Tide would stake the stretch out of its slough. Southeastern Conference mark.

California (4-2-1) goes after its second Big Five victory and is favored over the Trojans (1-3). Syracuse (3-1) and Penn State (2-2) will try to decide the mythical Eastern title in their game. In the Southwest, third-ranked Texas (4-0), headed by halfback Jimmy Saxon, meets Arkansas' resurgent forces in what may be the key Southwest Conference game of the year. Arkansas, tied for No. 10, is 2-0 in the conference, and the Longhorns, the most powerful team in the country, are 1-0.

The other games involving the nation's top-ranked schools are all conference affairs. Second-ranked Mississippi plays Tulane, eighth-ranked Georgia Tech plays Auburn, and Louisiana State, tied for 10th, takes on Kentucky in SEC contests.

Iowa, ranked fourth, plays Wisconsin and Ohio State (No. 7) faces Northwestern in Big Ten contests. While Big Eight leader Colorado (No. 9), goes against Kansas State.

Child Star Turns Into Dope Addict

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bobby Driscoll, a onetime child movie star who had everything he wanted and nothing he needed, is starting the long road back from nowhere. Driscoll, 24, was committed Wednesday to the State Narcotics Rehabilitation Center at Chino, Calif., where he must spend at least six months. "I am anxious to undergo the new narcotics program at Chino," he told Judge Allen Miller at his hearing in the psychiatric department of Superior Court. "I think I can find myself working with others who understand my problem." Driscoll had been arrested recently on a bad check charge. It was another in a series of arrests — for disturbing the peace, brawling and narcotics violations — that began about seven years ago when his movie career started to fade. Once Driscoll was making more than $50,000 a year. He started acting at 6 in "The Sullivan" during World War II. He won an Oscar at 11 for his role in "The Window" and usually was cast as a lovable youngster in such films as "So Dear to My Heart" and "Treasure Island." He has appeared in 30 movies. What happened to him? Driscoll isn't certain, but he gave an explanation to newsmen outside the courtroom. "I had everything," he said. "Working steadily with good parts. Then I started putting all my spare time in my arm. 'I'm not really sure why I started using narcotics. I was 17 when I first experimented with the stuff. In no time at all I was using whatever was available. Mostly heroin because I had the money to pay for it. 'I've spent all the money I earned, except what my parents have used wisely. I'm not sure how much exactly, but I'm certain it's been considerably more than $100,000.' He is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Driscoll of Mar Vista, Calif. His father is a real estate broker. Young Driscoll was married in 1956 to Marilyn Jeanne myself and to my family to pick brush. They had three children, up where I dropped out seven years ago. I know I can."

Are All Men the Same?
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: Perhaps you can straighten me out on something. I'm in my late 20's and, until about two years ago, led a very sheltered life. Almost all my time was spent with my parents. However, after they died, I began dating, and here's my problem: Are all men the same? Those I have met seem to be more interested in talking about sex, than in anything else. I thought a man would appreciate a girl who could converse on books, art or music. Am I wrong? Am I old-fashioned? —Blushing Bella.
Dear Blushing Bella: You are still finding it difficult, and frightened, to adjust to conditions in a world that was completely remote from you for 25 years. So, perhaps the overprotection of your early years is the fact that you are now meeting just one type of man — and that the wrong one, especially for you. It seems almost impossible that in two years you have met not young men with honorable intentions or of respectful attitude. There are certainly lots of them around, and perhaps you're looking in the wrong places. To broaden your circle of acquaintances, I'd suggest a complete change of interests. You don't mention what your activities are, or where you meet the men you have dated, but look elsewhere. You city alums in social, cultural, and athletic groups, carry your search there.
Dear Helen: My husband and I have been married 24 years, and have two married sons. We are no longer happy. My husband is a good worker and provider, but seems restless and bored at home. I'm thinking about a divorce. —Bored
Dear Bored: You expect to raise two children to maturity and at the same time have things arranged for more than a year. There's no chance of a reconciliation. I just hope that someday I will be considered fit to have custody of my son. "I want to act again," he continued. "To become a credit to myself and to my family to pick brush. They had three children, up where I dropped out seven years ago. I know I can."

Insurance Available in All Cases

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Persons who have snapped back satisfactorily from a heart attack are finding life insurance companies today willing, even eager, to take them on as insurable risks. So are those who have been cured of tuberculosis or whose cancer operation has been pronounced successful after a period of time. Nor does total blindness any longer bar a person from getting an insurance policy. And the number of job categories on the proscribed list shrinks steadily. Some newer companies are specializing in insuring cardiacs, diabetics, and those with a history of other serious ailments. Many in the insurance business see a definite trend toward expanding coverage by tapping the vast field that once was barred, or penalized by much larger premiums, as substandard risks. One move that was widely publicized was into the field of insuring persons over 65, a steadily growing sector of the population. The Institute of Life Insurance reports only three out of every 100 applicants today are turned down for reasons of health, occupation, habits or family medical history. As an example it cites a recent trend which has swung a large majority of companies to issuing permanent policies to healthy and well-adjusted blind persons at standard premium rates. And where an extra premium is charged it usually runs to no more than $2.50 a year for $1,000 of protection. An example of a specialist in the field once barred as substandard risks is the United Equi Life Insurance Co. of Chicago, a legal reserve company chartered by the State of Illinois. Its president, Jerome Garland, is a cardiac alumnus. He says his experience led him to study the actuarial tables on similar victims who returned to normal everyday activities. As a result early this year his comparatively new firm began offering to insure heart disease victims whose doctors report, after a period of time, that they have recovered. In the first six weeks the company wrote nearly $2 million in policies — all on the doctor's say-so without any physical checkup by the company. United Equi is now extending insurance coverage to those with medical histories of arrested tuberculosis, controlled diabetes, cancer that hasn't returned after an operation. Part of the trend toward insuring those once barred comes from a study of actuarial tables which show that most recover almost completely from the initial attacks. Part comes from the great advance in recent years in medical and hospital treatment which makes once-lethal diseases controllable. And part comes from competition within the insurance industry itself. It has spread its sales of policies into many fields and steadily increased the variety of the benefits offered. And still the reserves of the companies grow. So as fast as their actuaries report improved mortality findings they move into new fields. All of this, insurance men say, should be good news to the once uninsurable.

Arkansas' Forests Life Blood of Industry

Conference in Business a Ritual

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the great rituals of American life is the business conference.

The conferences are usually held behind closed doors to give them an air of secrecy. That is a great shame.

They should be thrown open and tickets sold to the public. For the average business conference has better acting and far more drama than an off-Broadway production.

In some offices they hold conferences weekly—some even have them daily. In others the boss merely calls them whenever he is lonely and feels like howling out the staff.

If you have ever attended one of these office matinees, you probably remember some of these typical characters:

Statistical Syd—He shows up with an armful of charts to prove his points. Halfway through his presentation, he discovers he has hung the charts upside down. This makes no real difference to Syd. His figures read the same for forward, backward, upside down, or start making bowling balls? Item

MANY LOCAL INDUSTRIES NOT ONLY THRIVE ON Arkansas Forests but wood is the life blood. This week is National Forests Products Week and the economy of Hope depends on Arkansas Forests. This city has many plants which make wood products. Some of the firms observing Forestry Week are Hope Basket which makes baskets from wood, Bruner-Ivory which makes all kinds of handles from wood; Southern Plawood which makes boards and panels from waste wood; Harold Hendrix who purchases pulpwood for paper mills; Hope Builders Supply and Gunter Lumber Company who sell building materials made from wood products.

sideways. Bulldozer Bert—"What this firm needs is some real down-to-earth aggressive thinking!" He cries, thumping the table. Everybody nods. They're all in favor of aggressive thinking, whatever that is. They are also in favor of motherhood and the federal highway program.

Mumbo-jumbo Jack—He once read a book on psychology and never quite recovered. "It's about time we paid more attention to our socio-economic public image and reconstructed our corporate contour psychewise," he says. Everybody nods profoundly again. Why not? Why argue with a nut you can't even understand.

Gilbert the Gambler—"So we're losing money on tidlywinks," he howls. "Let's diversify. Why not start making bowling balls? Item for item, there's a lot bigger profit potential in bowling balls than tidlywinks." Procrastinating Phil—When his turn comes he looks mysterious and says, "I pass for now. I'm working on something I think will solve all our problems, but I haven't got it in final form." Phil has used this same line so many times he is beginning to believe it himself.

Whereas Wilbur—The company lawyer never makes a suggestion himself. He is there for only one purpose—to arise and announce why the suggestions anyone else makes are legally impossible, plus being against public policy.

Doodling Dan—The boss' nephew sits and silently draws pictures of pretty girls on the pad before him. His plans are all made. As soon as he inherits the business, he intends to fire everybody and sell the firm to its biggest competitor.

Sylvester the Spouter—"The sales manager is a master of glowing, push-button prose. 'While our figures are down a mite this month,' he says cheerily, 'all signs indicate that next month will see a record.' All signs point to a record all right—a record loss."

Omnipotent Oliver—"This con job got us exactly nowhere," says the boss, winding it all up. "The next time I call you boys in, you'd better show up with some real ideas—or there'll be some new faces at this conference table."

The session is over. The executives march out, firm confidence showing in every face. Industry marches on!

Printer Named to Education Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Hubert L. Ferguson of Conway, an official of the Conway printing firm which publishes the governor's weekly newspaper, the Arkansas Statesman, has been appointed to the state board of education. Gov. Orval E. Faubus made the appointment and said he has no interest in the printing company. Ferguson has none in the Statesman.

Industrial Picture in Arkansas

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Staff Writer

Industry and industrial development are prime topics of conversation in Arkansas these days. Periodic announcements that such and such a town has obtained an industry employing so many people are read and discussed with interest.

The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission is used annual statements telling how many industrial jobs were added in the state during the year. We learn that manufacturing payrolls passed farm receipts as the leading source of Arkansas' personal income during 1960.

Announcements of factory locations and job totals fail, however, to give a specific picture of Arkansas' miniature industrial revolution. The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission has sought to do that in its new Directory of Arkansas Industries.

The directory lists more than 3,200 industries alphabetically, by product and by location. It shows industries with only one employee and includes the Borg-Warner Corp., which promises to hire 2,000 at Fort Smith.

And in the figures are some specific pictures of how industry has changed the face of Arkansas.

The directory shows, for example, that 1,140 of Forrester City's 1,288 industrial jobs have been added since 1950 and a picture develops of the 10-year transformation of the St. Francis County seat from a farmer's market to one of the state's most bustling young industrial centers.

It lists 3,241 jobs added by placement of six major industries at Pine Bluff as an explanation of the Jefferson County city's metamorphosis from near absolute dependency on the Cotton Belt Shops to diversification that has put an end to periodic booms and busts.

The recent blossoming of the poultry industry in Arkansas is clearly reflected in figures with show 28 of 35 poultry processing plants were established in the last 10 years.

The directory will never compete for the escape reading market, but it is full of pertinent and interesting facts.

Borg-Warner, when it hits peak production, will be the top single employer in the state. What firm employs at its Pine Bluff mill and the national average, however, in per cent of income from manufacturing, Arkansas' percentage is 16.136 working at Camden.

The second largest firm may come as a surprise. It's the Olcman Manufacturing Co., which has 1,635 employees at four factories—300 in Arkadelphia, 500 in Fayetteville, 500 in Harrison and 335 in Morrilton.

Little Rock, as expected, is the

SIGN OF THE TIMES—W. C. Fancher, postmaster of Moscow, Tex., the Texas community with a name that's the same as that of another community a world away, wants something done about it. ## Dancer Has Learned Hard Cold Facts

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Barrie Chase, an unknown dancer before she appeared two seasons ago as Fred Astaire's partner in the first of his television specials, currently is learning the cold hard facts of life in the medium.

Barrie, a pretty, dark haired girl in her early 20s, will make her first Astaire-less appearance on TV as the dancing star of an ABC variety special, "The Sensations of Youth," next Wednesday night. She came to New York for the assignment. But as recently as two days ago she had met no one connected with the program except the choreographer, and had no notion how her numbers fit into the show.

"I haven't an idea what it's all about," she confessed. "I'm rehearsing the dances. But that's about it, although I suppose that's all right—the only reason I wanted to do the show was because of Bob Fosse, the choreographer. He did those exciting dances in 'West Side Story.'"

"But I tell you, it's very different from working with Fred. His shows were planned ahead of time, from the beginning to the end, and we were all in on the planning. We were consulted about the wardrobe, and we all that, she says firmly, is that."

The dancer—she started lessons at age 7—is more concerned with developing an acting career in motion pictures than dancing in

Urges Flu Shots

ATLANTA, Ga. The official, Luther L. Terry, repeated Tuesday a prediction that an outbreak of influenza will occur in the United States this fall and winter.

Can't Open Ballot

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An Arkansas election judge may question a prospective voter about his qualifications as an elector, but he may not open a ballot without the voter's consent or attempt to determine how a vote was cast before the ballot is placed in the box, the attorney general's office ruled Wednesday. The opinion went to Blytheville Alderman C. Fay Austin.

THE STORY: The hijacked plane lands on the Moroccan desert where Don Willie and his pilot Bruno, meet them in a truck and start removing crates from the plane. These crates contain documents which would incriminate Don Willie if they fell into hands of Moroccan authorities.

Chapter XVII

The transfer of crates had been completed; Bruno was strapping the tailgate back into place. Laura appeared, wearing snugly fitted coveralls which were strapped and buckled at the waist and ankles. She climbed quickly into the landrover and settled herself in the middle of the front seat.

Lynch and Don Willie came into view. Don Willie spoke to Lynch without turning his head. Lynch shrugged and took the gun from the pocket of his coveralls. It was an automatic, a .38, Beecher guessed. Lynch opened the breech, glanced into the chamber, then let the receiver snap shut.

Lynch had walked out of sight, striding toward the bay of the plane. Don Willie had hoisted himself into the truck beside Laura. Bruno got behind the wheel. They were set to go; nothing left but to tidy up, to snip off the loose ends.

Beecher felt cold blisters of sweat breaking on his forehead. Footsteps sounded in the aisle, and Beecher trembled with the sudden fearful thrust of his heart. Beecher realized with panic that he'd been a fool to wait; with the ship in his hands he might at least have crashed them into the ground. Instead he had waited, hoping to play on Lynch's guilt, Laura's fears. But they were safe now, their feet solidly on the ground, and he was caught like a rabbit in a noose. As Lynch's hand turned the knob of the compartment, Beecher had a split-second glimpse of Don Willie's complete plan; Interpol would have no mystery to solve. It would find the plane with three dead men aboard; a puzzle and answer contained in one neat package.

Beecher leaped from the pilot's column and threw himself at the slowly opening door. He heard Lynch's harsh, startled oath when he rammed home the bolt on the inside of the door.

"Now don't be an idiot, old man," Lynch called plaintively. "You're coming with us, you know. No need to go hysterical. Don Willie's planning to take care of you."

"Tell him I want to talk to him."

"Now this won't do at all!" Lynch's fist hammered against the meal panel of the door. "Open up, I say!"

Beecher flattened his back against the wall beside the doorway, well out of range if Lynch fired through the panel. If he could persuade Lynch to leave the plane to talk to Don Willie, he could use the controls without risking a bullet in his back. Then he could start the motors and whip the tail of the plane around against the truck.

But Lynch said, "You're in no harm of Washington, Grand Secretary. Speaker for the occasion was Rev. W. T. Keaton. Finance raised, $36,266. Mrs. J. E. Bradley, host matron.

Mrs. Elmer Witherspoon and Mrs. Lula Pearl Bradley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bradley on Oct. 16. Both are victims of a stroke. Lunch was served to them after which Willie C. Austin took them to visit in the homes of Mrs. Earl Bradley and the Austins.

back to the window. Don Willie had opened the door of the truck and was standing on the running board looking anxiously toward the plane. Lynch had apparently appeared in the doorway, for Don Willie began to shout and gesture furiously at his wrist watch.

Everything was still. Then Beecher stiffened suddenly; a faint crackling noise sounded beyond the door. Beecher got his ear against the panel. The noise was swelling slowly.

"Lynch!" he shouted. "You'd better come out, old man." Lynch's voice was distant. "I've started a fire in the front seats. Wouldn't you prefer things a bit less messy?"

Beecher's coughing became convulsive; the smoke burned his lungs like lye. He had been prepared to die; his will had made that decision. To die suggested a clean swift break; the fall of a blade, or the snap of a switch. But dying had a beginning, a middle, and an end. It was a nightmare streaked with unendurable fear and terror. He lunged blindly to his feet, pulled the bolt and jerked the door open. Flames
